Food Stamp Employment and Training

Description:	Helps food stamp recipients find jobs.
Eligibility:	Work registration and Able-bodied Adults Without Dependents (ABAWD) status are factors that help determine if you are eligible for food stamps. Every household member between the ages of 16 and 59 must register for work, unless exempt. Additional ABAWD requirements apply to adults age 18 through 49 in active ETP counties. Because ETP counties have lower unemployment rates and more available jobs, work programs are offered in these counties to help food stamp participants find jobs. The active ETP counties change each year. Jefferson County is the only active ABAWD/ETP county. In the other 119 counties, food stamp participants are subject only to the work registration requirements and the provisions that cover quitting a job. Failure to comply with ETP work requirements will result in the member's disqualification from the program for up to six months. Unless exempt, the member must comply with ETP before eligibility is reestablished. Failure to meet the ABAWD requirement will result in the member's technical ineligibility after three months (ABAWDs may receive benefits for three months, consecutive or otherwise, within a 36-month period if not in compliance with work requirements).
Deadline:	None
Information:	People receiving food stamps should contact their caseworker. For general information, applicants should call the local Department for Community Based Services office.
